DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 4, 7, 8, 17 19, 20 and 24 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Park et al..

Park et al. discloses a method of operating a phase-change memory element having all the steps as recited in claims 1, 4, 7, 8, 17 19, 20 and 24 as follows:

- providing the phase-change memory element including the phase-change material (column 1, lines 6-16);
- programming the phase-change memory element from a first memory state (reset state, column 1, lines 31-33) having a first threshold voltage to a second memory state having a second threshold voltage (set state, column 1, lines 34-37).

The threshold voltage corresponds to the resistivity state in the memory cell and this is disclosed in column 1, lines 6-9.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1, 2, 5, 6 and 9-11 provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 19 and 20 of copending Application No. 10/252,628. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to recognize a first resistance state and a second resistance state in claims 19 and 20 of the prior application as a first memory state and a second memory state in the claims of the instant application.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 12-16 are allowed.

6. Claims 3, 18 and 21-23 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The prior art does not teach or suggest a memory array having a memory element including a phase-change material, the memory element coupled to the row line and the column line, the memory element having at least a first memory state and a second state, the memory element including a phase-change material, the phase-change material being in the amorphous phase in the first memory state and in the second memory state.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

8. Lowrey discloses a method for reading a structural phase-change memory.
